BASEBALL FACTS

While local north side fans were jubilant last night as a result of the Cubs' 8 to 2 victory over Pittsburgh, followers of the White Sox were somewhat downcast when their favorites lost to Detroit, 4 to 3.

The New York Yankees, minus the services of Babe Ruth, walloped the world's champion Washington team, 5 to 1, while the Athletics, without the aid of their star, Joe Hauser, took Boston into camp, 9 to 8, in a ten-inning affair. Cleveland and St. Louis put up a jolt contest, the Indians winning, 21 to 14.

In the National League, Boston beat New York, 5 to 4; Cincinnati blanked St. Louis, 4 to 0, and Brooklyn was from Philadelphia, 5 to 1.

Grover Cleveland Alexander—they call him an old man, but he doesn't play the part. Way back in the distant days of 1911 he first struck the national laurels on his team end, but the march of time seems to have taken its toll from his good right arm and his batting eye appears to be growing more wobbly with age.

However, in the midst of a setting of state fairs—24,000 paid—he swung that good right arm and that trusty bat when the last ball had been hit in the mire for the final putout a howling mob of enthusiasts poured out of the north side park to spread the news that Bill Killeen's Cub had marked their opening battle of the National league's jubilee year with a class, thrilling triumph over the best of Pittsburgh. Pirates could offer the score was 8 to 2, the difference coming in a deluge of six runs in the unusually lucky seventh inning.

Fans Like Beer in Blue.

More people have witnessed ball games here and elsewhere, but the turnout set a record for all time. National League openers in Chicago. Once before—but rear when the Giants were here—over 40,000 paid at the gate, and yesterday, just as on that epochal day of last season, they were in the sun and on the seats, on the field and in the aisles, and even on the fences and the iron grilles—in fact, no vantage point was in need of an occupant.

All started with music and a march to the gaieties, where Old Glory and the biggest jester pennants were raised. These quantities of flowers were carried to the plate and Commissioner K. L. Landis presented them to the home athletes. But the crowd didn't want flowers and ceremony. It wanted action, and howled lustily for it. The measure of "Play ball!" subsiding only long enough to give a rousing lead to "Rabbit" Maraville, who hopped out on crutches to receive another bunch full of flowers. The "Rabbit" twisted his bum leg around the pit and left the movie cameras do their work.

The "Old Boy" is Right.

The battle itself was a scorcher until the eighth seventh round came along to relieve the tension. Alex started by hitting only four balls to three men who sent him in the first inning, and the game then knew the old boy was here. For the moment they seemed to forget the fact that Eddie Yost, manager, who started for the Pirates, led the Cubs every time he faced them but once. And it wasn't long before there were signs that he would continue on their nemesis.

came the second inning and a break in the Cubs defense. Barney Prather had one high and handsome from the home dugout. Eventually a run went home, but in the very next round the man was back in the Cub's pockets and Eddie did it. He stepped up in the box, took a toe hold, and swatted one of young Eddie's fast balls. When the game was over it was well back in Eddie's field blockers, and Old Eddie, at least in no speed merchant, on the field, jogged leisurely around the diamond to the tune of a shout that would have justice to a world's records.

he cited, was when "a friend of mine from Ohio, a lady, went riding with Julie and me. There was a quarrel and I don't remember all the names Julie called her," the man admitted.

Along about this time, in the narrative, Munding and his common law wife moved out to Hinsdale. They took many of the horses from the Chicago stables, planned a riding academy, fixed up the house to which they moved, and "got along fine until she wanted to trade the horse for a Packard."

This trade was negotiated with G. Robert Hartman, former chief of police of La Grange, who was then a dealer in automobiles. Almost automatically this next, and this time the last, man in the sequence entered the story.

The car was delivered on the 15th of July. Julie got home very late that night. A day or so later, as he was doubling as chore man and amateur sleuth, Munding brushed out the Packard and found a note to "J. A. D." saying: "Do you remember the night of the 15th?" and Julie's penciled answer, "Yes, I do."

Always About the House.

From then on this Plummer was always about the Hinsdale place. Munding declared. On the pretext, he called it a pretext, that her old mother and father, who lived with her, didn't like Munding about, the riding master spent much of his time at the Chicago stables.

Every time he came to Hinsdale he found more evidence to arouse his suspicion.

"I got a worrying awful," the man explained, and told how he started to drink; how he got so nervous he got severe headaches, and began to take aspirin, often six tablets at a time, to "get back to normal."

"Did you dream?" asked Attorney Hadley.

State's Attorney Chauncey W. Reed, in charge of the prosecution, objected to any such line of questioning and Judge McAllister sustained the objection, on the ground that any such discussion was the business of an attorney-psychologist, not of the laymen witness.

Darwin Takes a Hand.

Here Clarence Darrow, for the first time during the day, showed fight, but in a quiet way.

Dreams, he pointed out, are a recognized factor in a man's mental makeup, recognized not only by psychiatrists but by physicians. His amiable discussion points the way, doubtless, to the audience of two dozen defense attorneys. Dr. Harold Donisthorpe, Skinner and Dr. Harold Hubert, both of whom testified in the Leopold-Loeb trial, but on opposing sides, will give today.

Temporary insanity, induced by jealousy, which in turn was provoked by the persistent recklessness of Julie, the woman whom Munding wanted for himself, will be the basis of the defense attorneys' theory, it seems apparent.

Plummer Carried Gun.

Plummer, of all the men whom Munding chased and followed, carried a gun. Three times, as the defendant tells the story, Plummer, with brass instruments, pistol and pistol at his rival, sneered at him from behind the gun, and dared him to a fight.

Many times, Munding declares, back in his room above the stable, he dreamed of Plummer and Julie, got up, dressed, drove out to Hinsdale, and peered in at windows. Often he found Plummer's car parked in a bedroom.

Once, he testified, he surprised Plummer and Julie together in a bedroom.

As a climax to the whole thing, Munding tells of his last trip to Hinsdale, with the wine and the gin and the gun. The gun he maintained, was fired at Mrs. Plummer. Of his shooting Julie in the barn where she was cleaning the bridles; of his grabbing her by the sweater when she sought to flee from his questions, and:

"The next thing I knew I had a gun to my ear, trying to shoot myself."

Julie, he says, was lying on the floor.

And again he begins to cry.

20 INJURED TO ONE KILLED IN SPEED MISHAPS

Experts Find Huge Hospital Toll of Speed.

By ARTHUR EVANS.

The death clock does not tell all the story. For every automobile killing in Chicago this year there have been at least twenty non-fatal accidents.

The police records show that during the first three months of 1925 Chicago had 128 motor vehicle fatalities. In the same period occurred 2,542 motor accidents that did not result in death.

They are cases on the point bodies.

They do not include many accidents in parks and on boulevards and some that were not brought to the attention of the National Safety Council.

Heaviest Toll Among Pedestrians.

The police tables show that of the 128 killed in the first nine days of this year 104 were struck and run over by motor vehicles. Most of the other deaths occurred in collisions.

Of the 108 pedestrians killed, fifty were struck or run over by private automobiles, twenty-two by taxicabs, and twenty-eight by motor trucks.

Figuring the number and the mileage of the three classes of auto vehicles, the deadliest by long odds is the motor truck on the side streets.

Looking over the records of the 2,542 non-fatal accidents, the experts find 215. These cases, when sorted out, show 212 accidents where taxicabs struck pedestrians, 27 instances where taxicabs ran into posts or buildings. They include 29 collisions of taxi and street cars, 161 collisions of taxi and automobiles and 17 with auto trucks. The tables do not denote which drivers were blame.

In the non-fatal accidents appear 444 cases where pedestrians were struck or run over by private automobiles and 264 cases where auto trucks caused similar accidents.

Street Cars Hit Many Autos.

In 577 collisions outside of those in which taxicabs figured 104 were between automobiles and street cars, 65 between automobiles and motor trucks, and 65 between auto trucks and street cars. There were 216 cases where automobiles collided.

Twenty-seven cities representing more than 10 per cent of the automobile bazaar of the country, all of which have active safety councils, last year registered a decrease of 7½ per cent in auto accidents. Chicago itself last year cut its motor vehicle death rate more than 8 per cent, the total deaths for the year being 542 as against 621 in 1923, the figures being those of the National Safety council.

Police Drive Was Effective.

This decrease came about through the campaign of the police to cut the

What Experts Found.

The St. Louis experts analyzing the 128 auto fatalities in that city last year, summarized the causes as follows:

	Per cent.
Inattention	41
Speed	23
Children	12
Intoxication	8
Other causes	9

In separating these figures further, the St. Louis analysts showed the following comparative percentages of causes of fatalities:

	Per cent.
Speed [driver]	23
Inattention [pedestrian]	21
Inattention [driver]	21
Children	18
Intoxicated driver	6
Improper movements [driver]	2
Mechanical defects, roadway equipment	1

Might Have Averted Accidents.

"In the majority of accidents," says the survey, "either party could have prevented the accident by exercising all due caution. The analysis shows that pedestrian traffic discipline and controls are necessary for the protection of the pedestrian as motor vehicle regulation is necessary for the safety of the driver and occupants of the car."

The St. Louis Safety council recommended an operator's license law with an effective revocation clause.

BOY AND MAN DIE AS SPEED DEATH TOLL REACHES 186

Two more deaths were added yesterday to the county's motor death toll, raising the total since Jan. 1 to 186.

Russell Siiva, 11 years old, 1729 North Wood street, was playing in the street yesterday when an automobile driven by Joseph Kowalsky, 1466 North Western avenue, struck him and killed him late yesterday afternoon supposedly while driving over a sidewalk.

Mr. Chaisier had been in and out of his office a number of times in the afternoon, and at 4 o'clock while in his private office employee heard a shot. James Stewart, the bookkeeper, and Edward Grundy, another employee, found Chaisier dead, his body slumped in his chair and the revolver on the floor. A widow and a daughter who survive him, were prostrated when notified of the death.

No one saw the woman fall and it was not definitely determined whether or not she committed suicide.

FRANK J. CHAISER, HEAD OF DAIRY CO., KILLS SON

While a number of employees were busy at their work in the outer office Frank J. Chaisier, president of the Lake Zurich Dairy company, 218 West Chestnut street, shot and killed himself late yesterday afternoon while driving over a sidewalk.

Mr. Chaisier had been in and out of his office a number of times in the afternoon, and at 4 o'clock while in his private office employee heard a shot. James Stewart, the bookkeeper, and Edward Grundy, another employee, found Chaisier dead, his body slumped in his chair and the revolver on the floor. A widow and a daughter who survive him, were prostrated when notified of the death.

His body crashed through the canopy of a delivery truck standing in an alley between the hotel and the terminal. John Doyle, driver of the truck, leaped from his seat just before the body struck, when a taxicab chauffeur shouted a warning.

Miss Morales, who was 49 years old, registered under her own name and that of her mother, Mrs. Frances Morales, giving Boston, Mass., as her residence. Her correct address in this city was found in a card in her pocket. Mrs. Morales, who later identified the body at a police station, said her daughter had been ill and despondent for some time.

No one saw the woman fall and it was not definitely determined whether or not she committed suicide.

WOMAN PLUNGES 22 STORIES FROM HOTEL TO DEATH

New York, April 14.—While thousands of persons thronged the vicinity of the Grand Central terminal this afternoon Miss Angelica Morales, a purchasing agent, either fell or jumped twenty-two stories from a room in the Hotel Commodore, where she had registered scarcely an hour before.

Her body crashed through the canopy of a delivery truck standing in an alley between the hotel and the terminal. John Doyle, driver of the truck, leaped from his seat just before the body struck, when a taxicab chauffeur shouted a warning.

Miss Morales, who was 49 years old, registered under her own name and that of her mother, Mrs. Frances Morales, giving Boston, Mass., as her residence. Her correct address in this city was found in a card in her pocket. Mrs. Morales, who later identified the body at a police station, said her daughter had been ill and despondent for some time.

No one saw the woman fall and it was not definitely determined whether or not she committed suicide.

DY'S WIN FIRST VOTE SKIRMISH IN LOWER HOUSE

Defeat Attempt to Kill Dry Commission Bill.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Springfield, Ill., April 14.—[Special] They won the first test of strength in the house today. With one vote to spare above the constitutional majority of 77, they defeated a motion to strike out the enacting clause of the Anti-Saloon League's bill creating the office of prohibition commissioner.

But it was a less certain forecast of final victory than the figures showed. They will need those 77 votes on a final roll call and one member who voted with them today announced from the floor that he voted for the motion merely so he could vote for a pending amendment, and there may be others who will be missing when the bill comes up for passage.

Defeat Eight-Hour Bill.

The other two tests of wet and dry strength, the O'Grady bill repealing the search and seizure act and the Cox bill to permit home wine manufacture, were not called up. They may come up tomorrow.

Two debates, in addition to the fight on the Anti-Saloon league's measure, came on the Women's Eight-Hour Bill and the proposed increase in the bonding power of the Chicago Sanitary district. The women's labor bill, reported out of committee without recommendation, was placed on the calendar by a vote of 103 to 30.

The sanitary district bill was changed to give the board a bonding power of 4 per cent instead of 5 per cent, as originally requested. The limitation now is 3 per cent.

Referendum Provisos Defeated.

Representative Howard S. Castle sought to put in a proviso for a referendum on all bond issues by the district. Castle had been beaten 103 to 30.

There were three roll calls on the all-containing the prohibition commission's office under the attorney general, a department to be composed of three executives and twenty-five field agents. There were fourteen identical amendments offered to take the appointing power away from Attorney Carlstrom and transfer it to Gov. Small, but before any of them could be acted upon, Representative Charlie Weber of Chicago moved to strike out the entire section. Representatives Horner, Tice, father of the measure, moved to table this proposal and on Tice's motion the vote was 73 to 41.

On the following two roll calls a number of members obviously avoided going on record. One of them was on Representative Thomas J. O'Grady's amendment to transfer the appointing power to the governor.

HUNDREDS WATCH SAILOR RESCUE SINKING WOMAN

A sailor from the United States lighthouse tender Hyson last night rescued a drowning woman from the river after she had leaped over the railing of the Michigan boulevard bridge. Hundreds of breathless spectators watched the drama.

Mrs. Amelia Wlecywski, 58 years old, who gave her address as 2122 Milwaukee avenue, had been despondent over the continued illness of her daughter. Before passengers could stop her, she jumped into the water. The Hyson was tied at the south end of the bridge. Without hesitation Ernest Wynobod leaped from the deck and swam to Mrs. Wlecywski's side. She was thought to die, but finally Wynobod, with the aid of ropes, was able to drag her to safety. She was taken to the county hospital.

U. S. POPULATION TO REACH 113,500,000 IN JULY, FIGURES SHOW

Washington, D. C., April 14.—Official figures compiled here by arithmetical calculation indicate that the population of the United States will be 113,500,000 by July. This represents an 8,000,000 increase since the 1920 census, when 105,716,829 persons were living in the country.

Of this growth in population nearly 3,000,000 are credited as immigrants, the remaining 6,000,000 being native born.

The increase of births over deaths shows an apparent decline in the official figures, and the excess of immigrants over emigrants also has a tendency downward.

GRANT IS GIVEN FIFTH REPRIEVE FROM GALLOWS

Bernard Grant will not hang Friday. The governor granted him reprieve yesterday until Aug. 14. This is Grant's fifth reprieve since a jury fixed his punishment at death after it had had a part in the holdup which resulted in the killing of Policeman Ralph Souders on Dec. 19, 1922.

"God, that's great; thank God for that," said the youth, whose hair has turned gray since he faced Clerk Walter Woerts told him of the government's decision. "You know I was getting nervous. I haven't slept the last two nights. Tell that good news to my parents."

SLAYER OF 26 GOES TO DEATH UNDER THE AX

HANOVER, April 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fritz Haarmann, local butcher sentenced to death last winter for the murder of twenty-six persons, was beheaded at 6 o'clock this morning.

Haarmann, a local butcher, was sentenced to death by a Hanover court on Dec. 19 for slaying twenty-six persons. Hans Grans, his accomplice, received a like sentence.

"I go to the decapitating block joyfully and willingly," declared Haarmann just before sentence was passed. He appeared unconcerned when the extreme penalty was imposed.

Haarmann lured men and boys to his lodgings and killed them and threw their bodies into the river.

Alienists testified that Haarmann was sane.

Arsenic Is Found in Bodies of Two Cunningham Boys

Arsenic was found in the organs of both Walter and Harry Cunningham, whose bodies were exhumed Monday from the little Indiana graveyard near Valparaiso, Ind., it was announced last night by Coroner Oscar Wolff. The announcement was based on the report of his chemist, Dr. William D. McNally.

With this information the prosecutors drew tighter the net of circumstances about Mrs. Anna Cunningham, mother of the two boys, and her husband, a daughter and another son died also under suspicious circumstances, and whose last son is now suffering from arsenical poisoning in a hospital here. All had life insurance.

Quality Not Determined.

Coroner Wolff said Dr. McNally had not yet had time to determine the quantity of arsenic found in the two bodies. Such a test, requiring great accuracy, will take several days, the coroner stated.

But in view of the fact that Dr. McNally and Coroner Physician Joseph Springer, who conducted the postmortem examination, found no evidence of arsenic in either of the bodies, the coroner stated.

Mrs. Cunningham in coma.

Her lips drawn tight, eyes squeezed shut, and limbs stiffened, Mrs. Cunningham spent the day in the Crown Point jail in a coma which prevented her appearance before a sanity commission in Gary, where her four children died.

Some physicians believed she was temporarily unconscious during her coma.

In the recoveries usually she will be arraigned indefinitely on an insanity warrant sworn by State's Attorney August Bremer of Lake county, declaring her to be a dangerous person to be at large.

Upon the decision regarding her mental fitness will rest the action to be taken for her alleged insanity. If she is sane, Mr. Bremer said, she will be charged with murder and the evidence handed over to the grand jury. The state's attorney pointed out that as yet he had received no official notice from Dr. McNally that the two bodies had contained poison.

The woman's condition has caused considerable concern to Lake county officials. Without adequate nursing the cost of her care would be about $300 a day.

BARR POLICE BILL ADVANCED; SPIKE DUNLAP MEASURE

Sharp Talk Marks Action
by State Senate.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
Springfield, Ill., April 14.—(Special)

The state highway police bill of Senator Barr, which Senators Dunlap and Swift intimated in the senate was designed to promote political fortunes rather than protect lives and property, was advanced to third reading in the senate tonight. One senator said privately that he believes a primary purpose of the Barr bill is to aid Gov. Small to a third term.

Senators also discussed three times the bill he advanced and any limitation of the number of policemen to be hired. He was urging a bill which one of his followers, Senator Jewell, said would mean employment of 1,500 to 2,000 patrolmen. That plan contemplated an expenditure of $4,000,000, but Senator Barr later deemed it advisable to accept an amendment which limits the number on the force to 750. That probably means an annual cost of

Barr state highway police bill advanced to last reading after amendment. Rival Dunlap bill shelved by vote of 35 to 11.

Bills recommended: By finance committee, to appropriate $25,729,479 for public welfare department; to appropriate $1,000,000 for land roads through cities of less than 7,500 inhabitants; to appropriate $2,000,000 for state roads;

to appropriate $15,339 for attorney general; to appropriate $255,315 for department of mines; to appropriate

$7,500 for expense of mining commission; to appropriate $75,000 for criminal insane buildings, and to abolish penitentiary commission. By mutuel betting machines. By judi-

furniture under real estate mortgages to grant all races same civil rights in competition; to make the minimum penalty for burglary with deadly weapons fourteen years in the penitentiary;

to require registration of poultry stock.

Bills introduced: By Barbour, to from Circuit to Appellate court;

by Burgess, to provide uniform tax

for the motorcycles.

Pigeonhole Dunlap Plan.

The debate lasted all day. The Dunlap state police bill was shoved into a

$1,390,000, without the cost of gasoline

for the motorcycles.

Dunlap's bill. The debate lasted all day. The Dunlap state police bill was shoved into a pigeonhole. It was tried out twice in the form of amendments to the Barr bill. Once it failed by a vote of 35 to 11 and the second time without a recall roll call.

The Barr bill proposed to place the highway police under director of public works, Senator Swift.

"Yes," said Senator Dunlap, "we have been told that each patrolman with a force of 3,000 would have nine-two miles of highway to patrol. A young woman recently told me that her car was stopped by a state highway maintenance policeman and she was asked to sign up a card for a particular service. If the patrolmen are to stop all the cars on the ninety-four miles of roadway to get political pledge cards, surely we will need 1,000 patrolmen."

Senator Kestinger told his colleagues that the Dunlap bill provides for an organized police force, while the Barr bill provides for an unorganized police force.

On Limiting the Force.

Senator Jewell offered an amendment to limit the force to 1,490 instead of 350, as Senator Dunlap proposed.

Senator Barr suggested that the 750 should be the number inserted in the bill.

"I rather agree with Senator

Jewell," sarcastically remarked Senator Swift. "Senator Barr has said his is a political bill, no, 1,000 patrolmen can do more effective work."

The Federation bulletin further advises the introduction of a constitutional bill providing for a tax of $1 for each thousand of assessed valuation as the latest scheme to bring the taxpayer.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright, 1925, by The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, April 14.—After refusing three times on the grounds that his government would possess the same character as that of former Premier Herriot and would be overthrown by the senate, Paul Painleve, president of the chamber of deputies, tonight agreed to attempt to obey President Doumergue's request and form a cabinet to lead France out of the financial difficulties which wrecked the last government.

M. Painleve was called to the president's palace after Aristide Briand announced that he could not accept the premiership, because the socialists refused to support him.

"If you got home with as little trouble as I did, you can thank your lucky stars. I didn't take a tumble, got held up, lost my way, or have the cork come out, so I think I am sitting pretty."

Sends Jean an Apology.

And then, after he had "insulted" her, he wrote in farewell:

"Sunday Night, Feb. 22.

"Dear Jean: I dislike having to bring up the matter of Saturday night again, but I feel that I owe you an apology.

"I am sure that any excuse I have to offer will not satisfy you, and much after my having acted so insincerely the other night. This letter will at least allow me to feel a trifle better, for I cannot let things stand as they are without offering every apology within my power.

"Please, Jean, don't try to phone or write to forgive me, for I can never feel myself to be such a gentleman as to do that.

Increase Paper Currency Today.

The Senate has called a meeting for tomorrow afternoon to legalize an increase in the paper franc circulation by 4,000,000,000 ($200,000,000) which will give a sufficient margin beyond the present illegal inflation to pay employees and other state requirements.

This action was decided on after the officials of the Bank of France declared they did not want to issue another weekly statement showing illegal circulation, and even threatened to close the bank.

M. De Mousne, acting financial minister, will present the bill in the chamber of deputies earlier in the day.

The Socialist party at a caucus this afternoon voted against any participation in the government which M.

Briand has been trying to constitute during the last three days.

Its action ended M. Briand's attempt to form a "concentration cabinet" taking in certain groups of the nationalists, as he had already stated his intention of renouncing the task of forming a ministry unless the Socialists consented to permanent partition of their members to some partition.

The Socialists hold 164 seats in the chamber of deputies, and they, with the other two groups, Republican Socialists, having forty-five seats, and the Radical Socialists, 149 seats, form the left wing, which carries a majority. The Socialists insisted that parliament must adopt a capital levy in order to rescue France from its financial difficulties.

Briand Stands by Now.

M. Briand was in the lobby of the chamber of deputies conferring with party leaders when the news of the caucus reached him. The eight times premier and venerable political boss was plainly stunned by the news, as he believed that his persuasive powers would fail over temporarily.

While M. Doumergue was conferring with M. Briand, the left wing party of Pacts were demanding that the government be disbanded.

M. Painleve was called to the president's palace after Aristide Briand announced that he could not accept the premiership, because the socialists refused to support him.

"If you got home with as little trouble as I did, you can thank your lucky stars. I didn't take a tumble, got held up, lost my way, or have the cork come out, so I think I am sitting pretty."

Sends Jean an Apology.

And then, after he had "insulted" her, he wrote in farewell:

"Sunday Night, Feb. 22.

"Dear Jean: I dislike having to bring up the matter of Saturday night again, but I feel that I owe you an apology.

"I am sure that any excuse I have to offer will not satisfy you, and much after my having acted so insincerely the other night. This letter will at least allow me to feel a trifle better, for I cannot let things stand as they are without offering every apology within my power.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 14.—Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, told good-bye to the stockholders of the company here today, as he prepared over them for the last time during his twelve year tenure of office.

Mr. Rea will retire in September, when he completes the pension plan after fifty-four years' service.

In his farewell speech Mr. Rea denounced the attack against the railroad.

He said the railroad had been

SCENT OF SPRING LURES CALL INTO MELLOW MOOD

Adds "Human Touch" to His Press Conference.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
Washington, D. C., April 14.—(Special)—Calvin Coolidge confessed to-day that he claimed to have come from the cradle into the world when it was his grandfather who gave him the push from babyhood to farming. Washington was strolling this noon under the first real warm spell of spring, for could almost hear the buds bursting into bloom around the White House. (Copyright Illustration.) Perhaps the country turned ear of the President of the United States caught the sound. Anyway, he turned the regular Tuesday conference with the newspaper people for affairs of state to talk about things mostly out of doors. He loved it; they loved it; and at the end of the twenty minute visit he and they were in closer touch than they have been since he first came to Washington, four years ago this spring.

In Contact with It, Young. They were asking him about the sur-

Smart is the word that describes these Coats—smart in style and smart in the use of furs and trimmings. There are Coats . . . and Coats at $29.50 . . . but these are different. The reason will be apparent at first glance . . . the silhouettes are in advance of the mode. Materials, too, are of the type that is usually associated with the higher prices.

$29.50 is such a low price that women with an eye for values will be here early. Be sure that you, too, are among them.

recent exhibition of the Junior Achievement League, which he and his wife had just viewed and the purpose of which is "to turn 10,000,000 American boys and girls in cities from ways of idleness and drifting to skilled work."

He had come in contact with "Junior League work" when he was young.

"The reticent smile broadened. Then came the point. It was:

"Father organized it mostly."

The roomful burst into a shout of laughter, and if Calvin Coolidge did not thoroughly enjoy the success of his joke there his twinkling eyes belied him.

He had come in contact with "Junior League work" when he was young.

"The reticent smile broadened. Then came the point. It was:

"Father organized it mostly."

The roomful burst into a shout of laughter, and if Calvin Coolidge did not thoroughly enjoy the success of his joke there his twinkling eyes belied him.

The chicken and egg industry was one that made especially to the efforts of boy and girl. And raising wheat—that wasn't beyond them, either. He could speak about that from his own experience. You see, grandfather had died when the President was 6 years old and he remembered that it was at grandfather's inspiration that he sowed his first wheat, so he must have been considerably under 6 then.

Tells of Fishing.

Then he turned to fishing. About this question they turned him as to the possibility of stocking the tidal basin of Potomac park with fish—he didn't know. He had always thought of fishin'—had always identified fishin'—more with the sports of children than of grown people. Some of us might remember the book that runs through the meadow up at Plymouth. Well, he could recall the time when he thought that book was a larger and more important strain, and as it was, boy. But he left himself now, but knew that other people seem to get a great deal of satisfaction out of going to Florida to fish—or to the north woods.

However, if the only good that stock the tidal basin would do would be to furnish a place for small boys it would be worth while. We men have had always been fond for getting the woods.

Again the quizzical smile, this time apropos of his suggestion that, if the tidal basin proposal could do any good, he would have to have it investigated by the department of commerce—or the department of agriculture.

There was talk on the reorganization of government departments with an eye to stricter supervision of them, and the elimination of waste—a reform close to the President's heart.

Tells Rose Sentinel Legend.

He didn't know whether any of us had ever heard the story of the sentinel posted in the garden of a European castle. Nobody knew why he was posted there. There seemed to be nothing to guard. Finally it came out that a hundred years before a rose bush there bore a very handsome rose that was the special favorite of the empress. And now the rose was gone and the bushes had diminished and the empress, too. But the sentinel still stood guard—the successor of a hundred years—the sentinels—posted, nobody knows why, except that for a century such had been the rule.

As for us, we could draw our own moral. As for him, his was that "without constant supervision of government departments officials outline their functions. Their activities for example, he thought, were not needed in times of peace."

Tells of Handshaking.

There was an old rule—he couldn't remember whether it was Newton's or Kepler's—but the gist of it was that a body at rest remains at rest and a body in motion continues to move in a straight line until it meets something else. It's a rule—he called, which, he felt, is applicable to persons holding office. Any report of a reorganization, for instance, well, one was always justified in receiving it with doubt.

Somebody asked, was not this Easter holiday handshaking, with its record of 4,420 persons, greatest in twenty-eight minutes, wearing on him.

No, he didn't at all dislike handshaking.

U. S. Alien Laws Slash
Holland Line's Business

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service]

THE HAGUE, April 14.—There is much disappointment over the general tone of the annual report of the Holland-American line, whose unfavorable showing is chiefly due to American immigration legislation, with consequent dwindling steerage receipts, and the tariff. The high prices of American wheat is causing Europe to look to other sources which also has affected the company's business. The losses

T. W. A. sells business quickly, without loss

"I was delighted with the results that I received from my Tribune Want Ad. I ordered it for a week, but the response was so prompt that I was able to sell by the third day. There were about twelve replies, all from interested prospects."

This case very aptly illustrates the solution of a problem that occasionally confronts the owner of a business. Miss Van Dusen stated that she was forced to sell on short notice, and therefore had to reach interested prospects without delay, or accept less than her business was worth. Tribune Want Ads reached the very people she sought, and enabled her, through the promptness of their response, to sell profitably, even though the sale was governed by haste.

This is no unusual achievement; there is a constant public interest centered on Tribune Want Ads at all times. An owner, to benefit by this attention, needs only to divert it to his offer. Consistent use of a Tribune Want Ad that carries a clear message will accomplish this, and, with a number of interested prospects at hand, selling is easy and swift.

YOUTH, JOBLESS, CUTS HIS WRISTS, LEAPS INTO LAKE

Bulk of Paul J. Healy's Estate Stock in Music Co.
Stock in the Lyon & Healy Co. of which he was a member, comprises most of the $540,000 estate of Paul J. Healy, it was revealed yesterday when an inventory of the estate was presented in Probate court by his widow, Mrs. Marie Alexander Healy. Mr. Healy, who died in January, left his entire estate to his widow.

After cutting his wrists and placing two heavy stones in his pockets, August Elmer, 22 years old, 2328 West Monroe street, a Minnesota youth, dependent because he couldn't find a job, leaped to death in the lake yesterday at the foot of East 63rd street. The body was recovered ten minutes later by coast guards stationed at Jackson park.

The youth's body was the second to be taken from the lake yesterday morning and the fourth since Easter Sunday. W. Weborg, a member of the coast guard detail, saw Elmer run down the side of the pier and plunge into the water.

When four other men Weborg set out in a small motor boat. When they found the body from the water they found the wrists bleeding and the stones stuffed in his pockets. A bankbook of the Wisconsin State Bank, 254 West Madison street, was the only mark of identification.

At the home of Mrs. Daisy Figary, where the youth roomed, a bankbook of the Farmington State Bank of Farmington, Minn., was found. An account which a short time ago was $12,32 had dwindled to $128.49. In a dresser drawer, neatly folded and placed in a position where it would attract attention, was a picture of the dairy, and the story of Robert Preston, the Northwestern university student whose body was taken from the lake on Sunday. Fifty letters from friends in all parts of the country, in which they attempted to cheer him up by telling him that soon he would find work, were found neatly placed in a suitcase.

Key, is aware of many successful sports in many places to bring the members into associations for appropriate causes. On a recent trip to Pacific coast, he met enthusiastic people in Denver, Tucson, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Spokane, Helena, St. Paul, Madison, Milwaukee, and intervening cities, and he will very much surprised if an association not organized in Chicago before very there are about 1,500 Phi Beta Kappa in Chicago and nearly 200 more Oak Park and Evanston. The chapters at Northwestern, Loyola, and Chicago universities are studying the situation and, no doubt, reach appropriate conclusions.

Then the members of Phi Beta Kappa here, and the group includes the President of the United States, will to their real strength they will take to correct the condition of which our correspondent complains.

CONCERNING TIN STAR. April 11.—To carry a gun and knife, and to display the law, for it gives three letters credit without these men as well as references from more to get this privilege. Do I like carry a gun? I do not. But with city teeming with holdups, gunmen, rappers, and what not, does any care to take a chance?

real solution is to put any man not ace officer who is caught carrying a gun in jail. I am not sure we have a criminal act, give him life.

And if any peace officer is caught carrying a gun, let him go. The gun tooters know that when they are up for trial they are going to take and he gone for a long time, and then in no account for carrying a gun how long will it be that this bunch of sentimental dopes will continue in present course of taking at a point gun what others would not do. And the moment one feels that this is removed, does ever think they ask the sheriff for a star?

A. W. BECKER.

TARS MAKE GOOD CITIZENS. April 11.—Being a possessor of the tin stars (so-called by Tars) issued by Sheriff Hoffman, and a respectable citizen and worth business man, I would like to contribute to the general impression that Tars seems to be trying to create responsible stars.

Sheriff's office is most emphatic in insisting that it should not be so it can be seen by the public; and if it could loose it will drop from its pocket, so that when it does it cannot be lost and found by police character.

TEL BOADS ARE WIDENED. April 11.—Quoting often in editorials you deplore the fact automobile drivers to Chicago and therefrom is a difficult and time consuming process. You hope for wider and so do we. But until they are in a temporary aid possible, parking were prohibited on the leading in from the highways and time required to make a hasty trip into the city would not be spent.

Points 15, and consequently has the shortest way to the long highway in miles down Milwaukee avenue. But Milwaukee avenue suffered with parked cars that it possible to average more than an hour on it, no matter how rapidly one drives it. If cars were parked side streets we could make rapidly on this street, but I am forced out of my way now come in on Jackson boulevard the same nuisance of parked cars.

Elmer Spends a Night with Radio Talkers

But Hereafter He Wants His Words with Music.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

A streak of fancy suggested finding out for once how it would seem to devote an entire evening to fable, story, oratory, drama, or what have we? Result for this listener: music is preferred stock.

I don't know whether these talks last night were more or less in number, or whether they averaged better or worse in quality than on any average night. I do know that there was some kind of talk going on every minute of the time between 6:30 and 10:—societies, three-five minutes for each fellow in '29.

This résumé really should begin with a flash at the receiver at the close of the third inning of the Cubs-Pirates game at Cubs park, hearing the score of 1 to 1, given out through microphones on the field over W-G-N and WMAQ.

The 8:30 W-G-N Skeezie time feature was given last night by May Whitcomb of the National Kindergarten and Elementary Schools.

The original Uncle Bob (Walker Wagoner) is back at the old stand at KCYW, 625, with his bedtime story-feature. His hearty "Ha, Ha," and his unique personal talk with his imaginary audience—well, there's nothing else quite like it.

Ford and Glenn at WLS at 7, with their interesting tête-à-tête for the benefit of the children. The way they tangled up baseball words—diamonds, pitchers, fielding, announcements, batmen, etc.—last night was clever, and that's the right word.

Again tuning in WLS at 7:35. Men and women were heard laughing, then a remark about the "High Lord Executives" and it was recognized that the "Mikado," by the WLS opera company, was on.

At 7 Harry Hansen, at WMAQ, giving his regular Tuesday evening literary talk. Anna Laughlin following with a talk on vacation trips and their incidents.

WMAQ at 8:30, a speaker whose name I failed to secure, talking on "Estate Building."

Eight thirty-five, WLS, a talk by J. H. Checkley on some of the things that the Logan county farm bureau has done for the farmers in that country.

Eight forty, an inspiring talk by Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Railroadmen, on "Chicago, the Railroad Center."

This was followed at 8:50 by a similarly inspiring talk by J. Paul Geode, professor of geography of the University of Chicago, on "What the Great Lakes Have Meant to Chicago." He said that Chicago is the natural vortex of human activity of this central region and that we are perhaps destined as a result of our favorable surroundings to be the greatest city in the world.

From 9 to 9:15 a talk from WMAQ in behalf of the American Legion fund for the "buddies" who leave the hospitals and enter upon independent careers.

That's not all, but it is enough—it all reads drier than it actually sounded.

DOG'S HOWLING WARNS VALLEY IN DAM BREAK

Detroit, Mich., April 14.—Flood waters in the lower Huron river valley, caused early today when the new dam of the Detroit Edison company at Frenchtown, near Ypsilanti, gave way and let loose the impounded water of a six-miles artificial lake, were receding rapidly tonight. No lives were lost, although a number of houses along the banks of the river were submerged and one was washed away.

That no lives were lost is attributed to the timely warning by members of the Michigan state police stationed at the South Rockwood station. The howling of a dog about 4:30 a. m. caused a family whose house was flooded and partially in the water to send to the estate office, who also were notified by guards at the Ford dam.

KAROLYI A MAN WITHOUT FRIEND, HIS PEOPLE SAY

Held Traitor; Communists His Only Backers.

BY LARRY RUE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service) Copyright 1925: By The Chicago Tribune I

PARIS, April 14.—The betrayer first of his country, later the king and his own family and party, Count Michael Karolyi, leader of the revolution of 1918 which overthrew the monarchy of Hungary and turned over the government to the bolshewiki, who were driven out by the Roumanian occupiers, today is not only a man without a country, but without friends, outside of the communist party.

Count Karolyi, who has lately been the subject of conflicting views as to treatment by the United States State Department, which permitted him to come only on condition that he cease political talking, belongs to one of the richest families in Hungary. Before entering politics he was known as the greatest of gamblers. Later, when he refused for personal reasons to participate with the right parties, he joined the socialists. When the war broke out he was in France, seeking for a French alliance. He was arrested and later released.

Approved War at First.

During the first year, when the Germans were winning the war, he not only approved of the war, but participated. Later, when the tables were turning, he went to Switzerland and tried to negotiate separate peace with the allied diplomats. The armistice was signed by monarchist officers Count Karolyi also was an officer.

Because of his boast that he was persona grata with the allies, to get the best peace terms the king appointed him premier. He immediately demobilized the army and ordered the soldiers home.

His next act was to proclaim a republic. He was appointed president by general acclamation of the crowd. He immediately telephoned and informed Count Andrássy, father of Countess Karolyi, who was the right hand man of the emperor, that the latter must abdicate.

"Who is speaking?" Count Andrássy inquired. "Your son-in-law," was the answer.

Refuses the Armistice.

As president of the Hungarian republic the first independent act of Count Karolyi was to refuse the armistice, leaving the lines of demarcation as before the war. Twelve days later he was ordered by Gen. Desperry to evacuate Partis, Hungary, so the Serbs, Roumanians, and Czechoslovakians

CHICAGO MUCH DRYER, HAYNES SAYS; PRAISES COURTS AND CITY AID

Washington, D. C., April 14.—[Special.]—Although Chicagoans may not be aware of it, the city has already made rapid strides toward aridity.

In announcing the perfecting of plans to place several new speed boats on the Detroit river in an effort to check smuggling from Canada, Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes today declared that Chicago is much drier than when he first took office. He gave the credit for this condition to better cooperation between the local and federal authorities and the courts.

Far from being encouraged by the reorganization in the treasury department which gave Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury, supervision of prohibition, customs and coast guard, Mr. Haynes today declared that the change would work for better enforcement of the prohibition laws.

could occupy it. It is now incorporated into these countries.

Public opinion was incensed at his blindness in leading Hungary, and when the French military mission claimed still further territory he did not dare face the truth of the new calamity. He hurriedly abandoned his position, releasing from jail Bela Kun, who formerly had seized the reins of the government. Count Karolyi fled from the country, which was in the grip of a violent revolution and bloodshed, the bolshewiki killing the monarchs.

Another great tragedy which befell the country through Count Karolyi's action was the Roumanian occupation, which cost the country nearly $250,000,000 in lost and stolen property, as well as the bitter humiliation.

Count Karolyi and his wife went to Dubrovnik, where they lived until 1923, and there also both denied that they were polshewiki. They were universally regarded as such.

See Revolt Plot.

At present the Hungarians and others who met the Karolyi at Dubrovnik believe they are fomenting a strike, and it is also believed that they received money from Canadian radicals.

CAPTURE BRITISH RUM BOAT WITH $250,000 CARGO

New York, April 14.—Uncle Sam's run chasing forces today added $350,000 to the value of recent liquor seizures in this vicinity with the capture of the two masted British ninety-five-ton auxiliary schooner Madeline Adams twenty miles off Fire Island.

There was some mystery about the capture of the trim little craft, which had in her hold 2,796 cases of assorted liquors, including champagnes, in addition to 100 barrels of alcohol on her decks. Capt. W. E. V. Jacobs, commanding of the New York division of the coast guard, assured questioners that the schooner was taken "twenty miles off Fire Island."

Count Karolyi and his wife went to Dubrovnik, where they lived until 1923, and there also both denied that they were polshewiki. They were universally regarded as such.

DEATH NOTICES

MRS. MCCLINTOCK
POISON VICTIM,
CORONER FINDS*Report Shows Mercury in Deadly Quantity.

Death of the mother as well as the son may be due to the criminal action of William D. Shepherd, first lieutenant of the Illinois State Police. Governor said yesterday after hearing the official report from the coroner's office that Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock died of mercury poisoning.

Coroner's Physician Dr. William D.

McNally submitted to Coroner Oscar Wolff the completed result of his examination of Mrs. McClintock's body and the organs thereof. The positive findings were sufficient to verify that she caused death within ten days and a few other chemicals.

Deaths of Extravagance.

Mrs. McClintock's body was ordered exhumed after Shepherd had been indicted on the charge of having caused the death of William McClintock by putting sodium ergot in water the young millionaire drank. It was done on the theory that if Shepherd killed the boy to obtain the $15,000 McClintock estate, he might also have caused the death of Mrs. McClintock sixteen years ago as the first move towards possession of the money.

For three weeks Dr. McNally has been subjecting the stomach contents, liver, viscera, heart, etc., to various chemical tests. At the same time he has been making a similar examination of the material taken from the body of Dr. Oscar Olson, brother of Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court, which was also exhumed as part of the investigation of the various deaths through which Shepherd became heir to $15,000.

Coroner Early Report.

A preliminary report had been made announcing the presence of mercury in Mrs. McClintock's body. The completed report confirms the earlier one and eliminates all other possibilities.

According to Dr. McNally's finished examination, however, she had no mercury in her body, but she did have arsenic, which is the cause of death.

Coroner Oscar Wolff said that the original diagnosis of the attending physician, who certified heart disease as the cause of death must have been wrong.

One physician studied the illness of the mother. Dr. McNally externally; the coroner's physician explored the body internally, and while he found indications of heart disease, pointed out, "The condition of the heart was such as not necessarily to bring about death, while the mercury undoubtedly would kill any person who had as much in the system as did Mrs. McClintock."

The inquest will be postponed pending the completion of the Dr. Olson postmortem, Mr. Wolff said.

UR OF CHALDEES YIELDS CARVINGS 4,200 YEARS OLD

Priceless Monument Is Found by Explorers.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 14.—The finding at Ur of the Chaldees of a great sandstone sculptured stela, or monument, of King Ur-Engur, who ruled Babylonia in 2300 B. C., was announced in London and Philadelphia tonight.

According to a statement issued by the University of Pennsylvania museum, Sir Frederic G. Kenyon, director of the British Museum, and Dr. George E. Jordan, director of the University of Pennsylvania, who are conducting a joint expedition in the buried city of Abraham, regard the stela as one of the "greatest pieces of art known to man and the most important archaeological objects ever found in Mesopotamia."

Covered with Historic Scenes.

It was uncovered by workmen under C. Leonard Wooley, head of the expedition financed by the two museums, and the inscriptions were read by Dr. Leo L. Sire, curator of the Babylonian section of the University museum, who is in Ur.

The stela or slab is five feet wide and fifteen feet high, carved on both sides with a series of historical or symbolic scenes arranged in horizontal bands of unequal height.

"Aside from the artistic value," the announcement said, "its historical importance is far-reaching, as it contains scenes in relief of the building of the Ziggurat, the tower of Ur, similar to the tower of Babel, served like names of the king, Ur-Engur, the founder of the third dynasty of Ur, and the only representation of Namar, the moon god, ever found."

First Depiction of Angels.

"Prior to the discovery, it was not known whether this early Babylonian god was a person, animal, or a symbol of divinity. In addition, the earliest representation of angels is contained in the marvelous carvings made by some unknown artist who produced the monument 4,200 years ago. The stela, in all probability, was the pride of Ur when Abraham lived in the city."

The stela had evidently been removed from its first resting place in the temple, as the monument was carried in 2300 B. C., said the announcement.

5 CITIES TO BE LINKED BY NEW AIRPLANE LINE

Announce New System at Meeting Here.

Commercial aviation in Chicago took another step forward yesterday with the announcement by Col. Harold E. Hartney that the General Airways System, Inc., of which he is vice-president and general manager, will within six months begin operating an aerial passenger and freight service between Boston, New York, Chicago, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

Col. Hartney appeared before a joint meeting of the Mayday Protective Committee and the Association of Commerce committee on a municipal air port. He asked that the city co-operate with him to the extent of granting a lease of property for a landing field, assurance of 300 pounds of express matter daily, and provisions for radio facilities.

Special Built Planes.

The airplanes to be used are of a special type, built with the factor of safety in mind. Col. Hartney explained. One plane is completed and will take the air on Friday, inaugurating aerial service between New York and Newark.

Five planes are in course of construction. Each has two Liberty motors, which are readily detachable. Nine passengers can be carried comfortably. Rates will be approximately double what the traveler pays when he rides in a Pullman car. Freight rates will be 1 mill a pound per mile.

Journey's End at Noon.

Leaving Boston at 8:45 p. m., the plane will reach New York at 11 p. m. Stops will be made in Detroit at 5:45 the next morning, and Chicago will be reached at 8 o'clock, leaving time for the delivery of freight before the business day is well started. The plane will then continue to the Twin Cities arriving at noon.

Most of the preliminary work in preparation for opening of the service has been completed. Arrangements have been made for a lighting system to guide the pilot at night. There is an overwhelming demand for freight space, Col. Hartney said, and it is expected there will be no trouble in finding Passengers Cooperation.

The service will be a hundred times safer than the London-Paris airline, which is used so extensively by Americans in Europe," said Col. Hartney.

He was promised the cooperation of the city by the two committees. Maj. Philip G. Kemp is head of the municipal group and George B. Foster is chairman of the Association of Commerce committee.

News of the new system brought the air mail to Chicago, it was revealed. Col. Hartney's company is backed by a group of New York business men who believe in the future of commercial aviation.

With the Ford Motor company now operating an airship between Detroit and its Higewich plant here, Chicago is assured by fall of two air lines in active service.

Under a year

The SHOCK PUNCH by JOHN MONK SAUNDERS

A thrilling story of a New York youth who packed lightning in his fists

It begins in Liberty, out today, 5c.

"What's the matter with you youngsters nowadays anyway?—Say! Up at Peekskill there is a couple o' hundred red blooded fellows throwing a steel bridge across the Hudson—but maybe you're too civilized. . . !"

This is a sample of this live, two-fisted story of an abrupt clash of Fifth Avenue class with red hot rivets, sweat, and greasy jumpers. Bristling with humor, with conflict, with sure-fire action—with a fine thread of romance running through it all.

You'll wish there were more of it when you lay this story down. Don't miss it! Get your copy of Liberty early, out today, at all newsstands, 5c.

"Under a year and over a million" is proof that there was need for Liberty. Had it been less enjoyable to its readers no such selling achievement would have been possible!

When you finish "The Shock Punch" you will say that you've never read a better story! It is just such entertainment as this that has won Liberty its place in a million families.

The fact that Liberty gained its first million in less than a year is not nearly as significant as the manner in which it was gained.

In the first place no circulation tricks were resorted to. The editorial content was subjected to a most remarkable and severe test of merit. 99% of every issue is bought at newsstands or from boy salesmen. No price cutting or clubbing offers or premiums to subscribers. This demonstrates beyond doubt that Liberty grooves with the spirit of the American public of today.

No Jungle Burial Ground

Liberty does not ask a reader to wend a tortuous way through a jungle of advertising pages to finish a story. Every feature is completed before another is begun. In the average magazine you look in the front to see what you wish to read. In Liberty you must look through the entire content before you find out. An advertisement cannot be buried in Liberty.

Happy Environment for Advertising

Liberty's dress fits the times! Four color covers—a running fire of color throughout! Diversified art to match diversified text—clearer, larger type—the very page arrangements are new and refreshing.

Directed Circulation

Liberty's circulation is directed into those communities which offer the greatest potential retail sales. It is thus the solution of an important sales problem. Ask for the working facts of this solution!

PERSHING, HERE, LAUDS DRIVE OF AMERICAN LEGION

tell the colonel to "throw away that damned cigar and to button up his coat. I was particular about those things, you remember."

"Well, Harbord told him and said, 'That's an order from the commanding general,'" Dawes said. "That's a hell of an order from the commanding general."

Although the officers of the reserve corps called for a speech from him, the Vice President refused.

Go to the Circus.

As Gen. Pershing and Vice President Dawes left the room, Mr. Dawes said: "He's taking me away so I can't tell the story I know about him." The two old friends left to go to the circus.

At the speaker's table last night were, besides Gen. Pershing and Mr. Dawes, Col. Earl Thornton, Col. A. Morgan, Col. R. Wyllie, Brig. Gen. W. J. Nicholson, Col. William H. Sexon, the toastmaster; Brig. Gen. B. A. Foor, Brig. Gen. Herbert M. Lord, director of the United States Budget; Col. Cromwell Stacy, and Col. Howard R. Perry.

Bucks Legion Drive.

Gen. Pershing earlier in the day gave his wholehearted endorsement of the American Legion endowment fund for disabled veterans' wives, widows of soldiers, and their orphans.

"Lincoln started off its endowment fund quota in flying fashion," the general told the workers here. "Nebraska is doing to its quota what it did before the books are opened. I understand Illinois is well on the way. That is fine. It is a worthy cause, and every American citizen should contribute to it."

SUIT SHOWS BOY HUSBAND OF RICH WIDOW PENNLESS

New York, April 14.—[Special.]—Voluntary bankruptcy proceedings by the Hotel Pasadena begun in the federal court today, revealed that Burton S. Tucker, 17 year-old husband of Mrs. Susan Simpson Tucker, present lessee of the hotel is practically penniless in spite of the wealth of his 46 year old wife.

Buyers of a Great 3,000,000 Market Right in the Palm of Your Hand

This advertisement is meant for Sales Managers of concerns that either have—or are seeking—distribution in Northern Ohio

SELLING is not nearly as simple as it was twenty years ago. The Sales Manager's job then was easy compared to what it is today. You don't just send out your men into their territories with instructions to "get the business." You study markets, outlets, and above all, your possible consumers. You spend real money—lots of it—to perfect your distribution and to popularize your product with the public.

A Compact Market of 3,000,000 People

The Sales Manager of today knows, for instance, that the Cleveland market is considerably more than just Cleveland. He knows that the city of Cleveland is divided into districts that differ greatly in their buying powers. He knows, too, that within easy access of Cleveland are numerous smaller jobbing centers that are as essentially parts of this great 3,000,000 market as Cleveland itself.

And this Sales Manager—ever alert for better and more economical ways of accomplishing his ends—knows that he can adequately cover the buyers of this prosperous market with one newspaper at one advertising cost.

Last year, of all the national advertisers who placed business in the several Cleveland newspapers, over half chose one paper ALONE to do the job. And that one paper was the Plain Dealer.

And of the 8,226,246 lines of advertising used by these men in Cleveland, well over half appeared in the Plain Dealer.

Of course the Plain Dealer has been recognized for years as one of the country's great newspapers. Year after year its position as the dominant advertising medium in Northern Ohio has become more firmly fixed in the minds of advertisers. For the Plain Dealer is not only the family newspaper of Cleveland, but is read and followed religiously by thousands of buyers throughout Northern Ohio.

But in addition, the Plain Dealer has taken every possible step to make it easy and economical for sales managers to operate in this important market. It has analyzed every district of Cleveland. It has carried its analysis into the smaller but extremely important towns that cluster around this city. It has tabulated wholesalers and retailers in all lines of trade. It has checked up on purchasing power and worked out other information of vital importance to sales executives.

Valuable Information for You

Much of this information is published in the Plain Dealer's book "Cleveland's Three Million Market and How to Sell it." All of it is available to you, your advertising agents, your district manager or your salesmen, in the Plain Dealer office at Cleveland.

Measure the Plain Dealer by any standard—circulation, quality or results—and you'll find it capable of doing the job for you in Northern Ohio.

No matter what kind of merchandise you sell, no matter whether your problem is one of reaching the jobber, the retailer or the consumer—the Plain Dealer can help you.

The 1925 edition of "Cleveland's Three Million Market and How to Sell it" is ready for distribution. It will give you valuable detailed information on Northern Ohio and its sales outlets. A request on your business stationery will bring a copy to you.

GIRL ACCUSER OF FORMER KLAN CHIEF IS DEAD

Indianapolis, Ind., April 14.—Miss Madge Oberholzer, 25, who has been ill since March 15 from the effects of poison taken following an alleged attack by Dr. C. Stephenson, former Klan Klan grand dragon, died at her home here today.

Her death was followed by a preliminary medical examination which disclosed, according to Dr. Virgil Moon, professor of pathology at the Indiana university school of medicine, evidences of the poison she told her parents she had taken.

Case Is Complicated.

Attorneys connected with the prosecution of Stephenson, who is under indictment on a charge of attempted murder, consulted this afternoon for two hours, William H. Remy, Marion county prosecutor, declined to discuss the conference, as also did Charles E. Cox, who has been retained by Miss Oberholzer's family.

"This case is complicated with a number of questions of law," said Professor Cox. "A criminal charge is placed against Stephenson; it will only be done after I have made a thorough study of the law questions with Judge Cox and not on the spur of the moment."

Body Is Scarred.

Dr. Moon who was appointed by Dr. Paul F. Robinson, Marion county coroner, to conduct the autopsy on Miss Oberholzer's body, said the kidneys were evidence of acute nephritis and that there were other evidences indicating that she had taken the poison of which she is said to have partaken. Her body also bore scars of recent lacerations, Dr. Moon said. A microscopic and chemical analysis of certain organs is yet to be made.

According to George E. Oberholzer, father of the young woman, his daughter gave an statement in which she declared she had been attacked by Stephenson, who had forced her to drink liquor at his home and then had taken her on a train to Hammond, Ind., and had kept her at a hotel there. The story was to the effect that after being attacked on the train and again in the Hammond hotel she obtained poison.

JAIL FOR RECORDS THEFT.
The alleged attempt of Harry Russel, chief of the records department, to steal a file of the records of Chief James E. Keeler of the Michigan State prison yesterday brought him a five day jail sentence when he appeared before Chief Justice Harry A. Olson.

PRINCE EXPECTS TO WIN ESTATE HELD BY SOVIET

New York, April 14.—Prince Felix Youssouoff, head of an erstwhile wealthy royal family of the old regime in Russia, still holds his claim to the throne, despite the revolution estimated to be worth $250,000,000, although they are now held by the Bolsheviks, he testified today at the second day of trial in the Supreme court of his suit against Joseph E. Widener of Philadelphia, for recovery of two Rembrandts.

Prince Youssouoff, a debonair figure, held the witness stand the entire day in his legal battle to regain the two Rembrandts which Mr. Widener acquired from him in August, 1921, by a sum of $190,000. Prince Youssouoff, who values the prints at $300,000, told today of having refused offers from the late J. P. Morgan and the late Senator William A. Clark of $200,000 and $225,000, respectively.

He contends that the transaction by which they passed to the Philadelphia financier and art collector was really a forced marriage, while Mr. Widener holds that he bought the art treasures outright.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Widener's counsel, former Gov. Nathan L. Miller, the prince testified that he contemplates the formation of a corporation to develop coal and oil lands once owned by his family, now in the hands of the soviet government.

"When you expect your estate in Russia to be restored to you?" Mr. Miller asked. The answer was an unqualified "yes." The prince said he wanted the pictures back so they could be returned to Russia if he came again into the Youssouoff estates.

U. S. NOTE ASKS ROUMANIA TO PAY ITS RELIEF DEBT

Washington, D. C., April 14.—Steps to press the Roumanian relief debt due to early settlement have been initiated in Congress by the Washington government.

The amount involved aggregates nearly $42,000,000, principal and interest, and the loan is viewed at the state department as a purely relief transaction, not to be confused with the general war debt problem.

Views of the Washington government have been presented at Bucharest by Minister Jay. They call attention sharply to the fact that Roumania has negotiated refunding agreements with several other governments covering similar loans negotiated after the American loans had been made and for smaller amounts, but that the obligations to the United States have thus far been ignored.

The note also emphasizes that the loan was made as war measure, but to relieve urgent necessities of the Roumanian people.

WOMAN'S DRESS SHOP HELD UP; 2 MEN GET $1,925

Five women customers were in the women's apparel store of Mrs. Isabella Hymer, 3422 Dressel boulevard, last night when two armed men entered.

"Hold up your hands and don't scream," one of them ordered.

The women raised their hands and were ordered to stand against a wall. While one of the robbers guarded them the other man took $125 and two rings valued at $1,800 from Mrs. Hymer. Then both of them fled.

The women in the store when the robbery took place were Mrs. G. W. Beaver, 3941 Ellis avenue; Mrs. H. Mackie, 4961 Lake Park avenue; Miss Eddie Gruber, 2120 North Armitage hotel; Miss Mollie Van Der Voort, 3418 Rhodes avenue; and Mrs. Mathilda Graf, 3410 Rhodes avenue.

Boys are blamed for putting off the tail of a horse in the stable of G. L. Krueger, baker at 3454 Halsted street, early last night.

AUSTRO-GERMAN MERGER MAY BE PUT TO LEAGUE

Austrians See Annexation as Only Hope.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
VIENNA, Austria, April 14.—The failure of the Odenthal plan for a complete union of Austria and Hungary and the opposition which the Danube conference has aroused in Austria and Czechoslovakia have made it impossible for the annexation of the little nations, leaders of all the Austrian political parties declare today.

A plan to appeal to the league for the annexation of Austria by Germany probably will be announced in the near future. It probably will follow an appeal to the league to undertake a reduction in customs duties in the succession states to a point where the Austrian party leaders believe it is appropriate. Vienna believes, will be refused.

The TRIBUNE correspondent interviewed leaders of the three most important Austrian political parties—a spokesman for the Socialists, Pan-Germans, and Christian Socialists. Those present were Dr. Leuthner, spokesman for the Social Democrats; former Vice Chancellor of the Pan-German party; former Minister of Justice, Charles Odenthal; Dr. Kari Lahn, Vienna correspondent of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE; Dr. Leopold, curator of the national museum, and the Berlin correspondent of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Faced by Opponents.

Every statement of the three men was made in the presence of political opponents.

Both Drs. Frank and Leuthner spoke without qualification in favor of annexation. A union with the German party is the platform of both parties. A surprise came when Dr. Odenthal, as representative of the Christian Socialist party, said he had agreed to annexation, endorsed the plan.

Dr. Odenthal, who was a minister in Dr. Seipel's cabinet, and is a member of the party council of the Christian Socialists, declared in behalf of his party:

"Three years ago the Christian Socialist party with a few exceptions among the members had consented to a program of annexation. This was a reconstruction plan, which the party had undertaken at Geneva to set the reconstruction plan through. During the period the annexation program disappeared from the aims of the members of the party."

Hold Only Salvation.

Now it is evident that the reconstruction program will not succeed. I feel that the policy of annexation has made great gains with the party and almost without exception the leaders see in annexation of Austria by Germany the only salvation of the nation.

Dr. Frank declared annexation remained a plank in his party program, notwithstanding if a Bolshevik or left-wing government came into power. In that event, it would be an internal political task to strive for necessary reforms. Dr. Frank believes Gen. von Hindenburg will be elected or a monarch restored. Dr. Leuthner endorsed Dr. Frank's statements.

RUSSIA PLEDGES PEASANTS LAND FOR LONG TERMS

Stalin Sees Return of Ownership.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BERLIN, April 14.—Representatives of the all-Russian peasants, called to Moscow by the chiefs of the soviet government, have been promised reforms which, if carried out, will mean the virtual reestablishment of private ownership and consequently completely change Russia's economic life, according to messages received from Moscow today.

The meeting was called because statements showed that the farmers neglected their fields more and more with every year and the area under cultivation was dwindling. The peasants replied to criticism of their tactics by saying that they could not be interested in cultivating land which was the common property of the whole nation.

Thereupon M. Stalin, chief of the Communist party, solemnly declared that special laws would be passed granting the peasants possession of the lands they cultivate for twenty and possibly forty years. If this measure is satisfactory the government will "return the land entirely to the peasants, thus reinstating the private right of ownership."

"We Wrote Constitution."

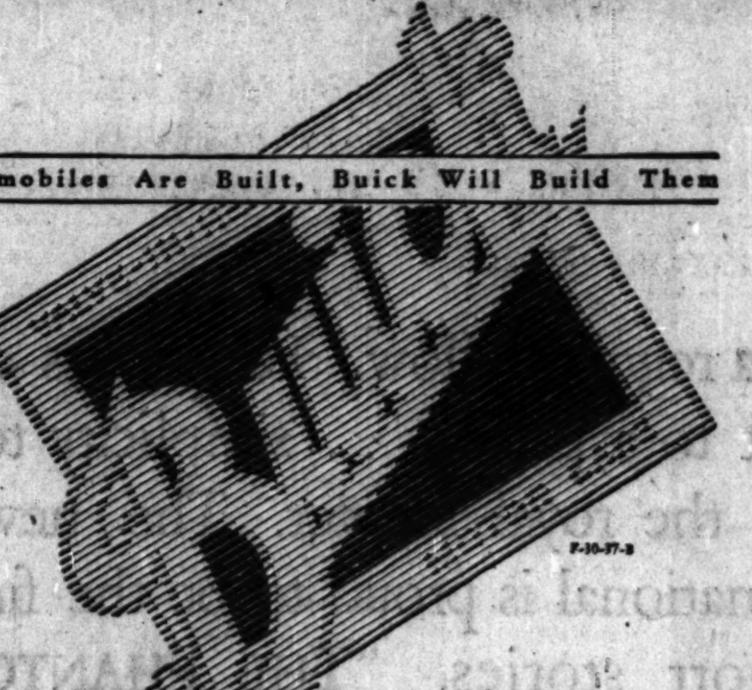

Representatives of the peasants did not believe that this could be possible, but M. Stalin, who succeeded to most of the power once held by Nicolai Lenin, waved their fears aside, declaring, "We wrote the constitution and we can change it if we see fit."

Realizing that the government is ready to make great concessions to the peasants to induce them to increase their area under cultivation, the representatives of the peasants demanded a reform in the election system, which, despite all declarations of "the equality of the proletarian," treats the farmer as a second class citizen. Peasants at present are not allowed to hold offices except in provincial committees.

While the towns elect one representative to the soviet for each 25,000 inhabitants, the peasants are allowed and paid it over. All pasts.

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

No. 2

Question: Why do Buick cars have the Valve-in-Head engine?

Answer: Because the Buick Valve-in-Head gives more power. Because it uses less gasoline in developing this power. For Buick owners to get the power they now have, a larger engine would be needed if it were not a Buick Valve-in-Head. Consequently, one that would consume more gasoline. Adequate power is the first essential of efficient motor car service, and economy in developing this power is an equally important second.

The politicians believe that this end reforms by Moscow is directly due to the severe fear of the failure of the elections in 1925 and also that communists are inspired by a desire to improve working conditions for owners of consciousness, who in turn will bring greater amounts of money to Russia.

The reinstatement of the right of personal ownership of land and crops is considered in political circles as the first big step taken by the Moscow government toward a democracy and the end of the proletarian dictatorship.

NURMI ARRIVES TODAY; EXPECT O.K. FROM A.A.U.

Paavo Nurmi, suspended by the Western A. A. U. pending a hearing on his failure to compete in the Kansas City A. C. meet at Kansas City Monday night, will be in Chicago today on his way to Minneapolis, where he is scheduled to run Friday night.

Nurmi is expected to meet Willie Ritola in a special 3,000 meter race in the feature event of the Loyola relay carnival at Grant park stadium Sunday and Loyola officials have been assured that the ban on the Finnish runner will be lifted in time to permit him to keep his date.

WILLIE PLANT.

Following announcement of Nurmi's suspension, the Rev. J. F. Thorning, chairman of the Loyola board of governors, communicated immediately with Dr. Reilly of Kansas City, who lodged the protest against Nurmi, and with F. W. Ruble of New York, secretary-treasurer of the National A. A. U. Both men gave assurance that Nurmi would be reinstated before his scheduled race with Ritola at Grant park.

In failing to keep his appointment at Kansas City, Nurmi was acting with the approval of Ruble, according to information received at Loyola.

Paavo Nurmi, who had been suspended from the annual unit north and south lawn tennis tournament here.

The feature of the day in the men's singles was the victory of Thomas J. Mangan of Washington over Fred Bagger, St. Johns, Fla., 9-7, 6-4. Howard Voshell of Brooklyn, present title holder, was also a victor.

In the women's singles an upset occurred when Miss Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va., defeated Miss Molly Thayer, Philadelphia, one of the first ten ranking women players in the United States. The score was 6-2, 5-7.

NORTH-SOUTH TENNIS NEARS SEMI-FINALS

Pinehurst, N. C., April 14.—Eight players had gained their brackets in the round preceding the semi-finals of the men's singles and three players had entered the semi-final of the women's singles when play was concluded today in the seventh annual unit north and south lawn tennis tournament here.

ON-WAY TO CHICAGO.

New York, April 14.—(Special)—Will under suspension resuming a hearing by the Western A. A. U. for his failure to compete as scheduled in Kansas City Monday night, Paavo Nurmi, Finland's great runner, left tonight for Chicago. He will join Hugo Quist, his trainer, and American adviser, and proceed to Minneapolis, where he is scheduled to compete Thursday night.

Nurmi, according to an announcement made by Secretary W. H. Ruble of the Amateur Athletic Union, decided late today to journey to Minneapolis. Secretary Ruble expressed the belief that Nurmi will have recovered sufficiently from his complaint by Sunday to compete in the Loyola university games in Chicago in the event that he is reinstated by the Western A. A. U. in time to participate.

The situation affecting Nurmi was unchanged so far as the local headquarters of the A. A. U. could ascertain. There was no indication as to whether the Western A. A. U. would continue its suspension or lift the ban, although it is confidently expected that a decision one way or the other will be made either tomorrow or Thursday.

SMITTY—YOU CAN'T KID THE KID!

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

BASEBALL.

MAJOR league baseball opened its 1925 season yesterday to welcoming fans gathered in such numbers as to negate some fears expressed that interest in the national sport is declining. From the attendance viewpoint there appears little call for imminent concern.

Baseball, as a sport of thrills and excitement, holds first place among summer amusements from the viewpoint of spectators. And, with its honest attractions, it appeals to city or village, parochial or not. Nearly every attendant is "pulling" for his favorite, usually the home team, to bag the victory. Partisanship is what carries throngs of baseball and football rooters to the verge of emotional insanity.

So as older fans drop away for golf or motorizing younger fans take their places, while our country's increasing population also augments the attendance.

Lessened participation in baseball as a boyhood sport, however, worries the game's creators. Many theories have been advanced. There are numerous reasons, but two, in our opinion, are really important. The first is that with the growth of our large cities space available for diamonds becomes scarce, practically non-existent in congested districts. Baseball requires an acre too large for small parks. City boys thus have less opportunity.

Small cities and villages have supplied a greater percentage of big league players than can larger cities. In this field the loyal golf club's demand for caddies supplies the answer. The average boy likes to feel independent, to have "his own money." So tooting clowns rather than swinging a bat and pegging a ball becomes the vogue. Demand is especially heavy on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, when formerly the boys "ganged" together for their diamond sport.

In time these tendencies may affect the quality of baseball by breeding developing talent from which the majors pick. So far as attendance is concerned, we see no reason for smaller crowds unless one-sided pennant races develop.

PRO GOLF MEET GOES TO OLYMPIA FIELDS

(By Associated Press)

The professional golfers' championship will be played on the four courses of the Olympia Fields Country Club Sept. 21-26, it was announced yesterday by President George Sargent of the P. G. A. after definite arrangements for the use of the largest golf club in the world had been completed with Charles M. Smalley, president of Olympia Fields.

President Sargent of the Professional Golfers' Association said that Walter Hagen expected to defend his title, won last year at French Lick Springs, where he defeated Jim Barnes of New York in the final round.

Paul Sargent and Stewart Gardner, a director, went over the four links at Olympia Fields yesterday with Mr. Smalley and pronounced the course in splendid condition. It was decided to hold the match rounds over courses No. 3 and 4, as they appeared to be the most picturesque of the four rolling and wooded links. It is possible that all four links will be used during the qualifying rounds.

Mr. Smalley and his partners will reduce the clubhouse and general fareway for the Harry Wills and Charles Weinert fight, as well as the proposed scrap on the same card between Mickey Walker and Harry Green. The bouts were originally scheduled for June 19, but there are several other local shows crowding the calendar.

GIBBONS' PILOT FIRST TO GRASP FOR JACK'S TITLE

BY FRANK SMITH.

As predicted in these columns, the pilot has started after Dempsey's crown even before it touched the ground when towed off definitely by the champion as stated in the middle of a freshly spaded run by a man who has been testing out proper depth to plant seeds at recent times in the year. Here are some points that put some growers in lead.

The first fellow to put the crown on his head is Eddie Kane, manager of Tom Gibbons of St. Paul. Kane has issued a long statement, which he has broadcast as far as radio stations go for spring the following planting time is best: Asparagus, beets, carrots, melons, onions, peas, spinach, radishes, tomatoes, beans, 1½ inches; peas and sweet corn, 2 inches; radishes, tomatoes, salinity, lettuce and parsnips, ¼ inch; and celery and parsnips, ½ inch.

Cover the late planted seeds more dirt. In the summer it is necessary to go deeper to get the seeds to moist soil so they will germinate.

With the soil is moist from the bottom of the spaded layer, and as it is in the spring, shallow is best. In this way the soil warmer and drier near the surface, that's what seeds need to get a good start.

ILLS-WEINERT BOUT SET BACK

New York, April 14.—The Italian full boxing show sponsors the Polo grounds management decided on a change in the date of the Harry Wills and Charlie Bert fight, as well as the proposed date on the same card between Wills and Harry Greb. The bout was originally scheduled for April 19, but there are several other shows crowding the calendar.

Tom First to Claim It.

The silent features of his single page two page follow:

"Tom Gibbons laid first claim to the title on the announcement of Dempsey's retirement [it never was definitely announced until yesterday morning and then in The Tribune] some months ago. In this I am sure he was given the mutual support of every fair minded boxer in the country."

"There are some who believe Harry will rightfully be entitled to first claim as Dempsey, offering the following reason: First, he never has been given an opportunity, while Gibbons has had one chance; second, that there has been partiality shown in favor of Gibbons over Wills as next opponent."

Will Fight Any One.

"There is almost a certainty that Dempsey has retired in making his claim to the heavyweight championship. It must be remembered that Gibbons is willing to fight any one who did not yield his right to the title. We made no provision as to what color or number of rounds to be boxed. If Wills felt the same way there would have been a Gibbons-Wills contest in New York to determine which of the two was rightfully entitled to claim the championship."

Then Kane goes along to tell how Gibbons went on with Dempsey at Sherry's, where he knew he wouldn't be allowed to speak, and the press corps for the troupe heard if he had refused to go on as a result of repeated violations of his contract by the backers of the show. It might have been the death knell of boxing.

More News Please.

Kane says that Gibbons repeatedly has said he is the ideal champion in every respect both as to body and personality and that he is the most honest, good word for the character of Wills, opining that he is a fine gentleman and worthy credit to the boxing world. He winds up by saying that "Gibbons will meet Gene Tunney on June 21 in New York and am sure will strengthen his rightful claim to the heavyweight title."

As far as Tunney match will have to wait on the heavyweight champion.

So that's that.

Miss Harriet May Defers Marriage; To Be Wed Here in Fall

BY NANCY R.

Those members of Chicago's enterprising younger set to whom a wedding is an event to look forward to and plan for will be happy to know that Harriet May's plans for her marriage to Robert Hall Warren have not changed—to our advantage. Instead of being wed late this summer, as was to be in York Harbor at the summer retreat of her parents, the John H. Mayes, Harriet has decided to postpone the important occasion until the autumn and then to have it take place in Chicago.

She and her mother are now getting ready to embark for a few months in Europe, before this only daughter becomes Mrs. Warren. The present plan is to sail for France some time after the end of May, and to be away, sightseeing and visiting in Paris, Berlin, and other inviting French spots, until early in August. Won't that give the young bride-to-be a nice length of time to store up ideas and pretty things for her trousseau, with the very best suggestions from the fashions of the world at her disposal?

When Mrs. May and Harriet return to Chicago, the air will be filled with the rustle of festivities—luncheons, dinners, and all those bridal party plots and entertainments that inevitably keep the engagement calendar of a bride-to-be well crowded.

Also for early autumn is scheduled the next visit to our shores of our literary Armenian friend, Michael Arlen. He was here for the opening of his play, "The Green Hat," on Sunday, but spent a quiet Saturday to Monday with a few of his Chicago friends, and then hurried back to the east. He sails for England Saturday on the Mauretania, not to return to Chicago until September, when he will be here for a ten day visit.

ILL. CEN. REPORTS LARGER PROFITS DUE TO ECONOMY

BY O. A. MATHER.
Another middle west railroad, the Illinois Central, had a fairly satisfactory period last year. Efficiency and economy in operation more than offset a decline in revenues, with the result that net profits were a trifle larger than in 1922.

While railway operating revenue of $172,821,281 last year marked a decrease of $12,922,024 from 1922, total operating expenses of $124,024,320 showed a decline of $15,908,255. Net corporate income was $16,247,557, an increase of $7,652,481. During the year the company spent $28,970,441 on improvements and equipments.

At the beginning of the year the preferred stock was increased by $10,862,000 and later $11,804,700 additional common stock was sold.

$12.85 on Common Shares.

Net income of $16,247,557 for 1924, after charges, was equivalent after preferred dividends to $12,284 a share on $100,826,771 common stock outstanding at the end of the year. Net income of $15,485,074 for 1923 was equivalent to $12.55 a share on $109,523,091 common stock. After paying 7 per cent common stock dividends, last year, there was a surplus of $7,059,141. Total surplus was in $73,511,000.

"A general depression in business was in evidence most of the year, as a consequence of which there was a substantial decrease in revenues," Fred H. Markham says. "However, as a result of the conservative policy of past years in maintaining the property at the highest standard, it was possible to effect reductions in operating expenses that more than offset the decline in revenues. The policy of adding to and improving roadway and equipment was continued."

C. & N. W. Urges Rate Fight.

Stockholders of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad were told at their annual meeting yesterday that the present rate structure imposed on the northwestern carriers is discriminatory and discriminatory. F. W. Sargent, general counsel, and Chairman Marvin Hughton, called a rate fight.

Mr. Sargent stated the western roads had held a conference on reducing the fight for higher rates to the federal courts unless the interstate commerce commission grants permission to increase freight rates.

The other roads would not agree to such action at present, however. President Finley said wage increases will add almost $2,000,000 to pay rolls this year, and if the rate structure in 1923 had been the same as in 1922 the road would have earned $14,447,000 more last year and $16,000,000 more in 1923.

Show West at Disaster.

In condemning the present rates Mr. Sargent pointed out that in the entire country the average freight rate a ton for each mile in 1924 was 5½ per cent higher than in 1911 and 54 per cent higher than in 1917. In the western district, however, the average rate a ton for each mile in 1924 was 5½ per cent higher than in 1911 and 54 per cent higher than in 1917, while in the eastern district the average rate a ton for each mile in 1924 was 50 per cent higher than in 1917.

The Northern Pacific railway, in its pamphlet report for the year ended Dec. 31, 1924, shows net income after taxes and interest of $10,000,000, equal to $6.44 a share on $248,000,000 of stock. This compares with $12,981,426 net, or $2.22 a share, earned in 1923.

The Erie railroad pamphlet report for the year shows the profit and loss surpluses on Dec. 31, 1924, totaled $55,185,715, as compared with $51,643,311 at the close of 1923.

Shows West at Disaster.

Some idea of the ever widening market that lies ahead for the American motor industry as other countries develop their highway systems may be gleaned from the fact that in Latin America there are only 5,000 miles of motor road which are classed as "good," only 25,115 miles passable all the year, and less than 105,000 miles of all roads usable by autos under any conditions from Texas to Cape Horn.

Brasil, which is as big as the United States, has only 2,373 miles of good motor road, according to commerce reports.

The significant fact, however, is that most of the roads, classed as good, have been built or improved for motor traffic since 1916 and over 6,000 miles are now under construction.

Certainly there is every reason for the motor industry and American highway of capitalism. The more that is spent on the purchase and operation of automobiles

the more everybody has constructively, the more everybody has

As in our case, railroads have recently run ahead of highways in most of Latin America, but down there are vast areas of virgin territory, which can be first opened by hard roads and may not need rail construction for a long time.

The abnormal lead of the United States in automobile use is slowly, almost imperceptibly, being whitewashed down. There is no reason to think that we will continue to use over roads—courtesy of the world's cars. It is true that we have more wealth, but the rest of the world is not going to stay poor.

Think a moment where we were 25 years ago. Who then could have guessed that the American people would in a quarter of a century spend $40,000,000,000 on the purchase and operation of automobiles?

An contemporary estimate of purchases of personal power would have seemed such a prospect as impossible. The problem didn't have the money. But it is easy to see now that the very development of the motor industry was one of the factors that gave to the American people the additional wealth with which to purchase the additional wealth with which they did not exist before.

We have spent $100,000,000 since 1908 nearly twice what we spent in 1908. Four times what our former allies do us, but we appear to be all the richer for that expenditure. That is the secret of wealth that makes many times as much for others as for himself.

BUYING OF WHEAT FOR INVESTMENT ADVANCES PRICE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Investment buying of July and September wheat by strong commission houses absorbed the surplus in the pit after an early break, and a bulge of $2@7½c from the low point followed with the finish at the top with net gains of 3½@4½c, with July leading. Corn was 1½@2½c higher. Oats gained 4@5½c, and rye was ½c lower to 12 higher, the latter on July.

Weakness in Liverpool wheat, with a decline of 6d, with an increase of 1½d, 6d in supplies on ocean passage, combined with rains during the spring wheat territory, had a depressing effect on value early, but the buying on the break was of a good character, and July, after falling down to $1.30½c, advanced later to $1.45c. R. O. Cromwell, the Lamont Bros. & Co. crop observer, who was in Kansas, sent in a report saying there was a widespread outbreak of army cutworms in ten south central and central counties in Kansas, eight counties in north central Oklahoma, and some in western Nebraska and northeastern Colorado. Individual fields were being seriously damaged.

Dry Weather Talk a Factor.

Dry weather talk from parts of Oklahoma and Kansas attracted considerable attention, and with the prospects of a small winter wheat crop this year was responsible for the persistent buying of the new crop deliveries. The local element were found to cover short sales on the way up. Seeding of spring wheat was well under way, and it was thought the bulk of the grain is expected to be in the ground by the end of the week with favorable weather. Forecast was for generally fair, with little change in temperatures.

Foreign demand for cash wheat was relatively slow, with sales estimated at 250,000 bu in all positions, largely曼谷, while no liability of a general mill strike in England, according to a Broomhall cable. Offerings of cash wheat on spot to leading markets were decidedly small.

Corn Ready Early.

Step loss orders were uncovered in corn at the start and opening sales showed as much as 2½c under Monday's finish, with July down to $1.07½c. The break brought in a fair class of commission house buying, and with the strength in wheat, a rally of 2½c from the inside figure, the market closed at 1.10½c. New sales with slight gains of 10@100 bu, while the local spots were unchanged to 30 better, with limited offerings at all points. Oats reflected the action of corn. In Iowa about 55 percent of the new oats crop has been seeded.

Rye was unsettled, with only a fair trade. A number of boats are now at Baltimore, and rye, offered for ready delivery, and the trade took for a decrease to be shown in Monday's value supply. Foreign demand was fair, with sales of 200,000 to 250,000 bu, with Germany the best buyer.

Strong Rally in Provision.

Sentiment among provision traders was less bearish, and with scattered commission house buying the market advanced and closed with net gains of 15@16½c on lard, while ribs were 7½@8c higher and bellies 5 higher. Prices follow:

CASH-GRAIN NEWS

Exports sales of wheat at the seaport were estimated at net to exceed 250,000 bu, presumably Manila. Exports sales were 200,000 to 250,000 bu, with Germany the best buyer, and the total was 100,000 bu in Canadian oats and short grain.

Chicago handled 94,000 bu wheat 100,000 bu corn, 150,000 bu oats, and 4,000 bu barley in the domestic trade, with 100,000 bu to go to store. Minneapolis sold 150,000 bu for shipment.

Willing demand for red winter wheat came in, particularly, with the arrival of the new crop, and the basis was unchanged to 2c better.

Offerings were very light in all markets, with no good grain offered at Los Angeles, and the market was nominal.

Kansas City was 2½c lower early and unchanged to 1c higher at the close.

While Chicago was unchanged to 1c lower.

Crowd of 40,000 Sees Chicago National League Team Open Season by Defeating Pittsburgh, 8 to 2

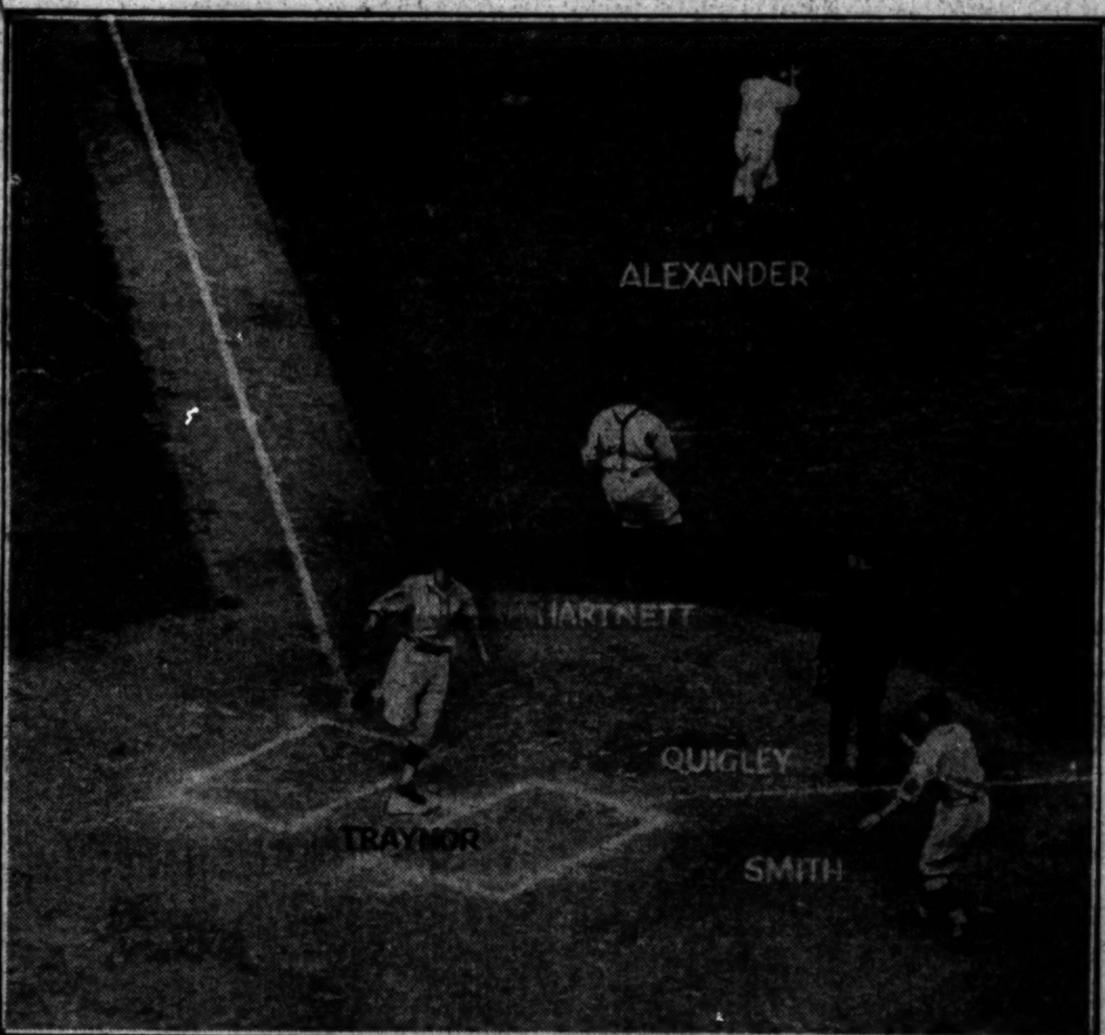

GREATEST CROWD THAT EVER ATTENDED A NATIONAL LEAGUE OPENING GAME IN CHICAGO TURNS OUT TO SEE THE CUBS BEAT THE PITTSBURGH PIRATES BY SCORE OF 8 TO 2. The crowd that appeared to fill every available foot of space at the north side park was estimated at 40,000, of which number 38,000 paid admissions. Once before, when the Giants were here last year, more than 40,000 paid at the gate, but no such crowd as was seen yesterday had ever attended the first game of the National league season in Chicago. The picture shows how the crowd spilled out of the grand stand into the playing field. (TRIBUNE Photo) (Story on page 1.)
